Cairo Paper Denies Egypt Will Enter Dulles Plan Parley

LONDON (AP)—The 22-nation Suez conference ended today in an atmosphere of bitterness heightened by the virtual certainty Egypt would reject the majority-approved plan to internationalize the canal.

LONDON (AP)—The Suez Canal situation deteriorated suddenly today, and the British cabinet met in emergency session to discuss the deepening crisis.

A crack British regiment moved out of its barracks to a destination described only as "somewhere in the Mediterranean" and Moslem leaders in Cairo prepared to ask the Arab world to take up arms.

The Western Big Three foreign ministers also met today to find some means of presenting the Dulles plan for internationalizing the Suez Canal zone to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser despite Soviet and Indian delaying tactics.

In Cairo the government newspaper Al Gomhuria said official sources "categorically denied" that Egypt would agree to negotiate on the Dulles plan. Other newspapers heaped abuse on the plan as a "snake inside a bouquet of flowers."

In Paris the Egyptian embassy announced that Saudi Arabia had warned the United States that millions of dollars of U. S. oil installations would "go up in smoke" if the West tries to impose its Suez decision on Egypt by force.

Both the British cabinet and the Western foreign ministers were reported studying an Egyptian threat to hold up French and British shipping in the Suez Canal.

Seeks Damages in Drowning of Boy

Leon Shelton, administrator of the estate of his son, David Leon Shelton, who drowned in a water-filled pit near Ledford July 27, has filed a complaint for $25,000 damages against Robert Franklin Nutty, said to be owner of the pond.

The complaint, filed by Atty. Geo. B. Lee and Atty. Scerial Thompson, charges Nutty had deepened the pond, where several boys had waded, and played. As a result of the deepening of the pond, the complaint charges, David Leon Shelton lost his life.

Will Bet $5,000 That Ike Lives Through Term

MILAN, Tenn. (AP)—Guy Harwood, a Tennessee delegate to the Republican National Convention, today offered to bet $5,000 that President Eisenhower lives out a full four-year term if re-elected.

Harwood said he got "fed up" with the talk about the President's health and deposited $5,000 in the Farmers-Peoples Bank here to cover any one who wants to take him up on the bet.

Discontinue Community Concerts

John Schork, president of the Harrisburg Community Concerts association, today announced that no concerts will be presented during the current season in Harrisburg. He expressed the hope that at some future time the association might be able to resume its activities. As a matter of fact, that is the intention, he stated.

"For the past two or three years the association has found increasing difficulty in enlisting members to support its program of bringing serious music to our community," Mr. Schork stated. "After considerable discussion, the board of directors came to the conclusion that the best course would be to discontinue the concert series at least temporarily."

In commenting on the quality of performers brought to the community during the several years that the association has been active, Mr. Schork recalled such names as Eileen Ferrell, Nan Meriman, Aldo Parisot, The Woodwind Ensemble of Paris, Dorothy Sarnoff, the Tucson Boys Choir and many other attractions which are world famous and the very finest performers available anywhere in the world.

"To measure their contributions to the general culture of the community would be impossible," he declared. "Selling them to an apathetic or even antagonistic public, however, has been a task requiring a great deal of devotion and hard work on the part of the comparatively small number of campaign workers."

Mr. Schork paid special tribute to Mrs. Joseph Hart, general chairman, Mrs. D. H. Hiller, secretary, Mrs. Pearl Sherman and all the faithful campaign workers.

"The loss of concerts in Harrisburg is doubly hard on those who have enjoyed them," he stated, "since it is no longer possible to attend the Carbondale series. The membership there is sold out."

Soil Conservation Tours Slated For August 28-30

Alva A. Gholson, president of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, announces a schedule for community conservation tours for August 28, 29 and 30. These tours are sponsored by the Saline District each year to give farmers an opportunity to see and study soil conservation practices which have been installed on the farms of District Cooperators.

The dates, hour of starting, and farms on which the tours will start are as follows:

Tuesday, Aug. 28, 9 a. m.—farm of Homer Watson, Lebanon Community; 1:30 p. m.—farm of Herbert Barger, south of Carrier Mills.

Wednesday, Aug. 29, 9 a. m.—farm of O. D. Bovinet, intersection of Carrier Mills road and Route 13; 1:30 p. m.—farm of Cecil Nelson, Rudement.

Thursday, Aug. 30, 9 a. m. C. E. Etienne Sr., east of Eldorado.

Mr. Gholson stated that Tom Morgan, farm planner of the Soil Conservation Service, and L. B. Kimmel, farm adviser of the Extension Service, will be on the tours to discuss soil conservation measures. All farmers are cordially invited by the district and the owners of the farms being visited to attend the tour most convenient to them.

Tom Dewey Matures; Now 54, He's One to Watch at 1960 Republican Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There's a long, long trail a winding between Mechanics Hall, Boston, Mass., back there in 1940 and this Cow Palace where the Republicans and President Eisenhower have just re-plighted their troth.

Nobody knows that better than Thomas E. Dewey, of New York. It was in Mechanics Hall some months more than 16 years ago that a brash young county attorney made his first big speech as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Your correspondent was there. It wasn't a very good speech. Moreover, it ran over the allotted 30 minutes of radio time — there

State Starts to Do Something To Give Scenic Areas Rest Spots

Sen. Glen O. Jones Receives Letter from Public Works Head Telling of Progress

State Senator Glen O. Jones of Harrisburg, who has been battling the past few months to get the state to locate roadside rest areas in southern Illinois, has received a letter from E. A. Rosenstone, director of the Illinois department of public works and buildings, which reveals that progress is being made.

Senator Jones had asked that his proposal for rest area sites in southern Illinois be investigated, and that large signs be placed in these areas showing the location of the various recreational areas in southern Illinois.

"W. D. MacLeod, district engineer, Carbondale, has been requested to find at least 25 locations on state right-of-way on routes through the southern Illinois area, principally south of Illinois Route 13, where roadside tables can be located, and plan for their development during the coming winter," the letter states.

Concerning the placement of signs in the rest areas, the letter states: "This matter has been presented to the Department of Conservation to determine the feasibility of their constructing signs of native woods of an ornamental type which would contain directional information. It now appears that the Department of Conservation would be able to participate in such a program and we have agreed to permit the erection of such signs at strategic locations on our right-of-way where they can be placed without interfering with the effectiveness of official signs. This project is now being explored thoroughly, and we will have more information on it in the next two or three weeks."

The letter also stated that two sites, located on Illinois Route 145 near Lake Glendale, have already been investigated by federal and state authorities, and provide the necessary features for development as roadside rest areas.

Lee Breaks Ski Record: 682 Miles

LAKE OZARK, Mo. (AP)—A 27-year-old water ski instructor, Lyle Lee of Galatia, Ill., is the holder of a new endurance record for water skiing.

After traveling 682 miles in 24 hours and 45 minutes, Lee stopped his long jaunt at 6 p. m. (CST) Wednesday. He started his continuous circular route on the Lake of the Ozarks at 6:14 p. m. Tuesday.

Although requiring assistance to walk after he stepped ashore, Lee said he felt fine. His first intention, he said, was to "get a lot of sleep."

During the water tour, he ate only honey and orange juice. His wife, Pat, accompanied him on water skis for the final lap of the test.

Tow boats were changed regularly to avoid difficulties and he was never forced to halt on the non-stop flight.

Last year he set an endurance record of 400 miles.

A full moon beamed on him all of Tuesday night and the water was as glass, he said, as he averaged 31 miles an hour. He did not wear goggles or a life preserver.

Some 500 persons were on the dock at the time he finished.

Broadcast Says It Flew Off After Hit; 16 Aboard

By WILLIAM MILLER

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Peiping Radio said today that Communist Chinese fighter planes "damaged" an aircraft in the same area where a U. S. Navy Martin Mercator plane is missing off the China coast with 16 men aboard.

The Red Chinese broadcast said the engagement took place "before 1 a. m. this morning." In Washington, the Navy Department said the Navy plane radioed at 12:25 a. m. Thursday (10:25 a. m. CST Wednesday) that it was under attack over international waters 32 miles off Red China and 160 miles north of Formosa. The Navy said the plane's radio transmission "suddenly stopped" and it "presumably" was shot down.

The Communist broadcast said the plane "flew off in the south-east direction after being hit."

Peiping Radio gave no details of the type of aircraft which it said "intruded" over Communist coastal islands not far from Shanghai. It identified it only as "a Chiang Kai-shek plane."

Nationalist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek based on this island use American type airplanes.

It appeared likely that the Communist pilots were unable to see the plane involved clearly in the midnight darkness over the China Sea.

This disclosure was the first clue to the fate of the missing U. S. plane.

If this was the missing Mercator, there was hope that the 16 American fliers aboard might be safe.

At Washington, the State Department said today it is waiting for a full report before taking action regarding the Navy plane attacked off the Red China coast.

Eisenhower and Nixon Named on First Ballots Unanimously in Spite of Candidate 'Joe Smith'

President Will Make Acceptance Speech Tonight And Running Mate Expected, Too, as His Stricken Father Reported 'Much Better'

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The GOP today threw its 1952 winners—President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—into a no-complacency campaign to retain the White House and regain control of Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon were renominated by unanimous votes at the Republican National Convention Wednesday night to oppose the Democratic ticket of Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

President Eisenhower plunged immediately into campaign chores. Two score Republican candidates for Congress hurried to his hotel suite today to grip his coat-tails for their own campaigns this autumn.

Not a whisper of opposition was raised to the renomination of Mr. Eisenhower, which had been a foregone conclusion since he announced last Feb. 29 that he would be available despite his heart attack last year. The minority of delegates who wanted to drop Nixon knew they were licked long before it was time to call the roll, and he, too, went on the ticket without a dissenting vote.

Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon were scheduled to make their acceptance speeches at today's final session of the convention at the Cow Palace.

The session starts at 4:30 CST but an hour or two will be taken up with preliminaries before the candidates come on.

Nixon, who left San Francisco Wednesday to be at the bedside of his aged and critically ill father in suburban Los Angeles, was expected to return in time to deliver his speech.

Nixon telephoned Mr. Eisenhower Wednesday night to report that his father was "much better." Mr. Eisenhower said the news made him "very happy."

Invites Candidates to Suite
Mr. Eisenhower's first act as GOP standard bearer for 1956 was to invite 40 candidates for the House and Senate and a number of governors and candidates for governorships to his suite to shake hands and have their pictures taken with him.

Mr. Eisenhower said Wednesday that he is very anxious to see the Republicans regain control of Congress which had been held by the Democrats for the past two years. Party strategists believe that one of the best ways he can help is by throwing the mantle of his own popularity over his GOP ticket-mates wherever possible.

Whatever suspense was left in the GOP convention was dispelled Wednesday before the session began.

The break came when Harold E. Stassen, leader of a stalled drive to dump Nixon, called on Mr. Eisenhower at the President's hotel suite.

Mr. Eisenhower later held a news conference to announce that Stassen had run up the white flag. He reported that Stassen had convinced himself that most of the delegates wanted Nixon, and that Stassen himself would make a seconding speech for Nixon.

At the same time, the President had some comment about the coming campaign. He said the party in power "always runs the danger of complacency" in an election campaign.

"But I think our people are all roused up to the very great necessity of continuing the kind of program they have been supporting

Plans for the setting up of classes at the Harrisburg Township high school for the training of practical nurses are complete and a large number of women have already made application for the course of instruction, it has been announced.

A meeting to explain the school and discuss the financing was held at Schierle's cafe Wednesday evening with interested persons from Harrisburg and surrounding communities in attendance.

Registrations for the school are being accepted at the HTHS, Room 113, Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m.

Mrs. Shirley Oshel, RN, who will be co-ordinator of nurses and give classroom instruction, is in charge of the registration. Mrs. Oshel has announced she will not be at the HTHS Monday, Aug. 27, as she will be in Rosiclare that day to accept registrations. Last day to apply for the school is Friday, Aug. 31.

Bob Davenport of Harrisburg, chairman of the Finance committee, discussed the method of financing the school and revealed that approximately $7,000 would be required to get the school started.

The Parade Passes By

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
In losing his battle to block Adlai Stevenson's bid for a rematch with President Eisenhower, former President Harry Truman gave the nation one of the most amazing exhibitions of his career.

First he shed his neutrality as a party elder statesman to declare for Averell Harriman's candidacy.
Then, standing within the shadow of Stevenson's sure nomination, he vigorously attacked the winner as too conservative and incapable of carrying the election.

The force of this assault suggests, despite Mr. Truman's dis-claimers, that he was motivated partly by personal pique. But undoubtedly he was sincerely convinced that only a man of Harriman's stripe could beat President Eisenhower.

The vast majority of the delegates gathered at Chicago chose to reject his counsel. In fact, it was evident before he spoke that they would do so.

Where this leaves Mr. Truman's prestige and standing in the Democratic party only time will demonstrate. He has a pretty secure place in many Democratic hearts, especially for his fighting 1948
campaign.

The professionals who put Stevenson across are not too likely to turn to Mr. Truman for future advice. As they see it, Mr. Truman sought to take control of the party for himself and his followers and to restamp his own imprint upon it.

In the view of many, he did this at the risk of hurting Stevenson's prospects in the fall campaign. He indicted the Illinoisan for "lack of fighting spirit" and implied that, unlike Harriman, he would not be fit to assume the presidency without a dangerous interim of job-learning.

Thereby Mr. Truman gave the Republicans ammunition they are sure to use this fall. They can cite his forceful testimony to charge that the Democrats at Chicago chose second best.

Perhaps, however, Stevenson will ride out this fusillade successfully.
If he does, he may be the gainer
in the long run from Mr. Truman's adventures at the convention. Henceforth Stevenson, whether he is elected in the fall or has to be satisfied merely with being titular head of his party for another four years, is utterly free of ties to the former president. He cannot be fairly linked with what some critics of Mr. Truman call the "courthouse branch" of the Democratic party. He is truly in command.

This being so, he may well feel that in the end "the old man from Missouri" did him more good than harm.

Obviously it is not in Mr. Truman's nature to remain gracefully on the sidelines. When he boarded the train at Kansas City, his fighting intervention in events at Chicago was assured.

Most would agree he made the convention scene a more exciting and amusing place than it otherwise would have been. But he also contributed an element of sadness.

For his dogged insistence on trying to put the party back into the mold he gave it contrasted strongly with the humility of the old Harry Truman. The times and the Democratic party have moved on,
but he has not.

The sad part was that he thought the wise course lay the other way.
Inevitably, he was not heeded.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson Says: Lots of changes in Eisenhower in four years; Scripps-Howard gave like editorial spur: U. S. concerned with Ike's "die-with-your-boots-on" attitude.

SAN FRANCISCO — There've
been a lot of changes in Dwight D.
Eisenhower since an August day just four years ago when the Scripps-Howard newspapers accused him of "running like a dry creek." He had delivered a speech in Abilene, Kan.—his first speech, a stumbling, moderate speech during which the rain
slashed down on his bald head, soaked his raincoat and blurred
his manuscript. It was not a dry occasion, but to GOP Sachem Roy Howard it was dry politics.

Those were days when it looked as if D. D. Eisenhower wasn't going to be a good campaigner. He certainly didn't like campaigning.
In Paris before he left to take the big political plunge, his press relations experts had a terrible time.
In filming some TV political burbs, he couldn't read his TV cue cards without glasses, and he didn't want to wear his glasses on television. He tried memorizing his lines, but forgot, stumbled; his press aides were in despair.

In the Commodore Hotel in New York, during and after the campaign, he confided to his new friend, Jim Hagerty: "When I walk through the corridor (where newsmen were sitting) I feel that everyone of them has his foot out to trip me." Ike hated the press and everything connected with it.
And he delayed holding press conferences until staunch GOP publishers began griping, wondering when the man they had put in the White House would begin meeting
the press.

SURE-FOOTED IKE — Yes,
there've been a lot of changes in Dwight D. Eisenhower as he accepts his renomination in San Francisco. The editorial spur applied by the Scripps-Howard newspapers whipped Ike into a near dither of campaign charge and counter-charge. "Communism, Korea and Corruption" replaced
the moderation of that first speech in Abilene. . . . Later, considerably later, a sure-footed Eisenhower replaced the timid, suspicious Eisenhower who felt every newsmen's foot was out to trip him. No president, not even that past master, Franklin Roosevelt, has become so adroit at press conferences, has used them so skillfully to reflect his personality, get his views across to the American public. . . .
Yes, it's a poised and sure-footed Eisenhower back in his role of moderation, who accepts the re-nomination. . . . Sure-footed except in two things—health and in making decisions where top political personalities are concerned.

In Panama last month, President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil, himself a physician, asked:
"Tell me as a doctor and your friend how you feel?" "I feel sick and tired all the time," replied the President. . . . He made an equally frank statement to a Panamanian, and at a recent press conference he talked in the mood of one who was fully prepared to die in office. . . . This is a fortitude the American people admire in a soldier, but they recall the jolt to the stock market after his heart attack, remember the delicate diplomatic balance around Suez, Formosa, Moscow, and they are concerned about the die-with-your-boots-on courage of a President: especially they are concerned about his successor.

IKE'S BUFFALOES—Across the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco ambled one of the best natured, best liked figures on the Republican side of the Senate—Homer Capehart of Indiana. He illustrates why Ike is not sure-footed on politics, why he doesn't have to worry about the wing of the Republican party which has been trying to buffalo him. . . . "John,"
said Senator Capehart to John Bennett of New York, "I need help." "What kind of help?" asked his old friend. . . . "You know what kind of help," replied Homer, "I'm running against the former Secretary of Agriculture
Claude Wickard, and I'm running scared." . . . Just four years ago, good-natured Homer Capehart was singing another tune. On Senate stationery, he wrote to GOP leaders all over the country before the Republican convention of 1952:
"Dear Republican: I am writing this letter because I feel so deeply that the nomination of General Eisenhower would mean the end of the Republican party. . . . We can't win with an amateur in politics." Homer continued, "Campaigning is a complicated business that takes a terrific lot of experience. . . . I want to tell you with all the sincerity of which I am capable that I firmly believe that Eisenhower is the Democratic candidate for the Republican nomination. . . . He is getting a buildup from every New Deal columnist,
every New Deal editor, Jimmie
Roosevelt, Claude Pepper, Elliott
Roosevelt. . . . Look at Eisenhower's close personal advisers. He stayed with George Allen in Washington. George Allen is Truman's old pal and side-kick, appointed to high office by Truman. Does anybody honestly think Mr. Allen wants to help elect a Republican president? . . . Eisenhower had a close association with Roosevelt and Truman. It was they who built him up. Every American citizen who applies for a passport to the State Department, headed by Dean Acheson, gets a circular with Eisenhower's picture on the front and a story about what a great man he is. The post office has just issued a NATO stamp to persuade the public that NATO is a tremendous success and that Eisenhower is its prophet. . . . He approved the policy of appeasing the Russians. He was chief of staff when Marshall and Acheson abandoned Chiang Kai-shek to the Communists in Asia. . . . and so on, wrote Homer Capehart for almost 1,000 words more.

THEY NEED HELP—But today
good old Homer needs help, and he needs it badly. Most of the Old Guard Republicans also need help, and need it badly. They need it to stay in power. . . . That's where they have Ike buffaloesd.
They need him much more than he needs them, but he doesn't know it. Len Hall, good staunch Old Guard Republican, has to have Ike, couldn't breathe politically for five minutes without Ike, yet has been trying to tell Ike whom he should have as vice-president. . . .
Homer Capehart has quit objecting to George Allen, who is even closer to Ike than to Truman.
Truman fired him; now George has bought the Gettysburg farm for Ike, got him an interest in two Howard Johnson restaurants, plays bridge with him. But you hear no more complaints from Homer or from other Old Guard Republicans. They're in no position to complain. They may not like Ike but they need Ike. . . . that is the secret, unadvertised slogan of the Republican party today: "We

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service Barbed wire has been used for constructing fences for many years. Three or four strands of wire had to be strung around fields and pastures in order to limit the movement of the livestock within the desired areas. It requires a lot of hard labor to construct a three or four-strand fence. And it takes a good deal more labor to maintain the fence in good repair.

Now after many years of tedious fencing, large numbers of farmers have discovered that a single strand of wire can be energized electrically with comparatively little current. The livestock will not attempt to pass the electrified barrier. The momentary shock which the livestock receive is not in the least bit serious, but the surprising tingle of electricity does not encourage repetition.

As a result, the animals soon
learn that the single strand of wire means business. The effectiveness is not easily interrupted either.
Any break in the single strand of wire interrupts the current and a warning signal calls the repair man.

There are probably many arguments for and against the electric fence, but the idea of a jolt to remind us that we are about "to get out of bounds" is rather appealing.
All of us like to step beyond the limits of God's way of life. We prefer to satisfy ourselves instead of serving others. We occasionally hate our fellowmen instead of

Quiz Peddler About Death of Murphysboro Marine in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police have arrested a young quiz peddler with a criminal record for questioning in the recent death of Marine Sgt. Gerald Ray Lipe.

Lipe's body was found sprawled across the curb near a street corner early the morning of Aug. 2. Deputy Coroner Christopher T. Murphy ruled after an autopsy that Lipe died of heart failure caused by alcohol.

Lipe's widow has come here from Murphysboro, Ill. Police called her to headquarters to identify a wallet the 24-year-old junk man was carrying. She said she also wants to question the police on the finding of accidental death.

The junk man, whom police did not identify, was picked up after a watchman said he had not been making his usual morning visits to the neighborhood in which Lipe's body was found.

Lipe, 23, was in Washington between trains on his way to a new military post. He was last seen walking from a tavern shortly after midnight.

Miss Wanda Hooten, Gary K. Shaw Wed in Ceremony at McKinley Avenue Baptist

(J. R. Metcalf Photo)
Mr. and Mrs. Gary K. Shaw

Before an altar decorated with white gladioli and palms Miss Wanda Lee Hooten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hooten of Herod, and Gary K. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shaw of Mt. Carmel, exchanged wedding vows read by the Rev. J. D. McCarty at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church. The double ring ceremony was performed by candlelight at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white lace. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was held in place by a cap of white velvet and pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible bound in lace and wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Ruth Hooten, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, in a waltz length dress of peacock blue crystal acetate and a headband of pink flowers. She carried a bouquet of white poms and pink carnations.

Bridesmaid was Laura Barnard, Cave-in-Rock, close friend of the bride. She was dressed identically as the maid of honor.

Ronnie Shaw of Mt. Carmel was best man and Ronnie Anderson, also of Mt. Carmel, served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Gene Ferrell of Herod, and Robert Williams of Mt. Carmel.

Mrs. Robert Keltner, church organist, accompanied Mrs. Imogene Pildan, friend of the bride, who sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hooten chose a dress of gray nylon and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Shaw wore a black lace dress with a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Candles and pink flowers encircled the cake.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from the Southern Illinois University with bachelor degrees. They will make their home in Morrisonville where she is a teacher at the Morrisonville Junior High school and where he is on the faculty at the Morrisonville high school.

The couple left following the reception for a wedding trip.

Dallas Dairy Sells Cartoned Well Water, 20c Per Half Gallon

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Tex. (U.P.)—An enterprising Dallas dairy is doing a booming business in well water put up in cartons like the best Grade A milk and marked with a price tag of 20 cents a half gallon.

The people of Dallas because of a monumental drought, get most of their drinking water from the Red River about 100 miles away. They also get a lot of salt mixed in it every day. The slow, salty water supply has aroused the greatest interest in history in bottled water, which at the dairy's rates, is worth more than six times the price of the best Texas crude oil.

And there are some who think the price of good pure water may go much higher unless there is a break soon in the drought—one of the worst in the state's history.

Agricultural Commissioner John White estimates the lack of rain this year will cost farmers and ranchers as much as 750 million dollars. It is already too late for general rain to save most of the parched crops.

In 1955 there were 132,400,000 radios in the United States.

Latham Castle Mimics One-Arm Paper Hanger; He's Up to His Eyes in Work

By GEORGE THIEM
(Reprint from The Chicago Daily News Issue of Aug. 11, 1956)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Attorney General Latham Castle dug up a forgotten statute to bring about the quick ouster of ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The incident is one of many in the busy life of the state government's top lawyer. Castle currently is up to his ears in helping to prosecute and to recover funds in the $1 1/2 million Hodge scandal. But he has many other duties.

In an interview prompted by a woman reader of the Daily News who wants to know what the Illinois attorney general does, Castle, smiling, explained:

"I'm the chief law officer but not the chief law enforcer."

"The attorney general is official legal adviser to the governor, state officials and the boards and commissions under them."

When The Daily News expose of the check-writing fraud broke early in July the governor and the attorney general were the top officials concerned.

"I began searching the statutes," Castle said.

"We found the provision giving the governor authority to double the state auditor's bond, and approve or disapprove it."

"Orville at the time seemed determined to stay in office. He might have got someone to put up the bond. But unless the governor approved it, he would be out. The governor could declare the office vacant and immediately appoint a successor."

Gov. Stratton promptly seized upon the provision and called a press conference.

The attorney general's opinion is sought on hundreds of questions involving the state constitution and the statutes. Many are raised by the 102 state's attorneys in Illinois.

Suits to recover sales tax money from night clubs for food and drink were begun by Castle's predecessor, Ivan Elliott.

Castle vigorously followed through, collecting some $350,000. The pressure to make partial settlements, or go away and forget it was terrific," he went on.

"The same thing happened when Secretary of State Carpenter and I were faced with collecting nearly $20 millions in unpaid '32 truck license fees."

"Hundreds tried to get fixes, but there were no deals. Court decisions in our favor brought in $9 million. The big fellows mostly paid up voluntarily when they saw resistance was useless."

Castle said he blocked Evan Howell when the former toll road commission chairman sought to take over legal work on the toll roads.

"Gov. Stratton backed me on this. We divided the right-of-way acquisition into seven sections using seven law firms, with Assistant Attorney General George McGurn in charge."

Currently, Castle has three attorneys and several investigators assigned to help Sangamon County State's Attorney George P. Courakon prosecute the Hodge case.

A fourth is handling suits and attachments to recover stolen money.

"I'd like to see the trial set for September," he said. "I think most people want to get it over with."

Collecting state inheritance taxes is a long-standing chore of the attorney general's office.

Castle doubled payments and cut costs in the Chicago office during the last three years ($31,110,080 compared with $16,597,116 from 1950-52) by waiving personal appearance of executors in tax cases under $750.

"I'm from the country," said Latham. "We did it that way in DeKalb County to save time and expense; it works just as well in Cook County."

The attorney general has his roots deep in the soil of DeKalb County, where he was born 56 years ago.

He owns land there, has a home and is chairman of the 100-year-old Sandwich State Bank. Castle, an alumnus of Northwestern University law school (1924), served his home county for 20 years as state's attorney and county judge.

His grandfather, Miles B. Castle, was a well-known newspaper publisher and state senator, his father, John B. Castle, a lawyer, banker, newspaper publisher and member of the state legislature.

IN THE Service

CRAIG AIR FORCE BASE, Ala. — Second Lieutenant Donald R. Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Chambers, 715 North Webster street, Harrisburg, Ill., has arrived at Craig Air Force Base, Alabama, where he is undergoing 10 weeks of intensive training in the Basic Pilot Instructor School.

Designed to training Air Force pilots as flying instructors, this is the only school of its kind presently operated by the Air Force. Upon graduation, Lt. Chambers will be assigned to an Air Training Command base to teach the rudiments of flying single engine aircraft to student pilots.

Lt. Chambers is required to spend approximately 79 hours flying the Air Force T-33 jet trainer aircraft during the time he attends the course.

A graduate of Harrisburg Township high school, he also attended University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University. He entered the Air Force as an aviation cadet and received his commission and pilot wings after completing flying training at Bryan AFB, Texas, just prior to coming to Craig.

Lt. Chambers is married to the former Miss Sherry Lynne Hensley, also of Harrisburg.

Facts On Truck Transportation Of Oil

A paid advertisement in The Daily Register of August 14th, set forth certain statements of an Oil Transportation Trucking firm relative to taxes paid by that company, insinuating that such taxes were adequate to take care of the maintenance of the roads they were using.

The first contention was that by using 50 gallons of gas per day per truck the company was paying $4.00 per day per truck motor fuel tax. The tax is 8 cents per gallon. Three cents goes to the Federal Government, 5 cents to the State which is divided as follows: 35% to the State, 32% to the Cities, 11% to Cook County, 10% to the Townships, and 12% to the Counties down state. The Counties share is divided among the counties on the basis of license fees registered in each County. Since Mr. Claybrook does not have his trucks registered or assessed in Saline County, therefore the share that Saline County might get from gasoline used in Saline County by Mr. Claybrook's trucks is credited to some other County and the County levy for roads is not collected since the equipment is assessed elsewhere.

Again monies received from license fees paid goes to the State of Illinois to be used on its primary system: Saline County gets nothing. Also the transportation tax mentioned by Mr. Claybrook does not come to Saline County and the excise taxes on oil, tires and other items is a federal tax and not available for County use.

The Board of Supervisors appreciates the great oil development in the County and does not desire to impede the development but they feel that in fairness to tax payers who are not participating in the benefits to be derived from the development but who do pay for the maintenance of the roads of the County, those who are participating should bear some of the cost of repairing damage directly chargeable to their use.

Taxes in general are a part of the cost of doing business and are not punitive and the Board of Supervisors levies all its taxes as a matter of necessity to carry on the business of the County for the best interest of all taxpayers.

SALINE COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
HOWARD PATTERSON, Chairman

No Complacency, Says Eisenhower

for the past three and one half years," he said, "and that you will find in every state in the Union and, indeed, down to every precinct the kind of work that is needed."

Restates One Party Belief

He also restated his belief that the "country will be best served when the White House and the Congress are both run by the same political party, for the simple reason you can then fix responsibility." The GOP convention has laid heavy stress on recapturing control of Congress, which passed to the Democrats two years ago.

The President also reiterated that he wanted an "open" convention at which delegates were free to nominate and vote for whom ever they please. Taking their cue from this, convention managers decided against permitting the nomination of either candidate by acclamation, even though there was no doubt about the outcome.

So when the time came for the nominations, House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, the convention chairman, ordered a roll call of the states. Alabama yielded to Indiana and all other delegations passed.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana put Mr. Eisenhower's name before the convention with a rousing defense of the administration. He recited what he called "the amazing achievements" of the administration and asked if they were the work of a "part-time president"—the term used by Democrats to describe Mr. Eisenhower.

"No," the crowd roared in reply.

Halleck wound up his speech by calling for the nomination of "the most widely respected, the most universally respected, the most proudly dedicated man of our times—Dwight David Eisenhower."

Magic Name Brings Bedlam

When the magic name was uttered the Cow Palace promptly came down with a bad case of bedlam. Delegates and outsiders stamped into the aisles for the demonstration that is a required part of American nominating ritual. A two-man Chinese dragon pranced down an aisle. A portable electric sign flashed on and off spelling out "I Like Ike." The Kansas delegation proclaimed with a big sign that "Kansas loves that man." One delegation opened paper sacks and out flew pigeons which sought refuge from the pandemonium on the highest girders they could find.

The demonstration began to run out of gas after 22 minutes and Martin gavelled it to a halt. Then came nine seconding speeches, given by a dirt farmer, a union member a Texas mother of six, a Negro woman educator from North Carolina, Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame football coach who belongs to no political party, and others.

Martin ordered another roll call of the states. To no one's surprise each state and territory formally cast its entire vote for Mr. Eisenhower. At the end, Martin announced solemnly that there were 1,323 votes out of 1,323 for the renomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The whole process was repeated for Nixon with the same result. This time, however, there was one minor hitch.

Delegate Places Name

Alabama yielded to Massachusetts and all other states passed except Nebraska. Mrs. Hazel Abel, the Nebraska delegation chairman, said the delegation passed but one delegate wanted to place a name in nomination.

The delegate was Terry Carpenter, a maverick Republican and former Democrat who was on record before the convention against Mr. Eisenhower's nomination. Carpenter had told newsmen he wanted to nominate Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, a Nebraskan, for vice president, but Martin already had a "no thanks" letter from Seaton to block such action.

Through Mrs. Abel, Carpenter then reserved the right to nominate "Joe Smith."

"Nebraska reserves the right to nominate Joe Smith, whoever he is," said Martin.

Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, the man Stassen wanted to replace Nixon, made the nominating speech for Nixon. He warned the convention against breaking up the "winning team."

That set off another noisy demonstration, with signs, pictures and placards waving.

Fitted into the middle of seconding speeches for Nixon was Stassen, presidential disarrangement adviser on leave, who stepped to the speaker's platform to feast on crowd in public.

Stassen Backs Nixon
"It is my clear conviction," he said, "that Richard Nixon is the overwhelming and considered choice of the delegates of this convention."

"I earnestly urge the men and women of our country, especially the independent voters, members of organized labor, citizens who sometimes speak of themselves as minorities, who believe in the objectives of President Eisenhower, to join me in cheerfully and whole-

Ask $32,000 In Suit After Crash

Sammy L. Sullivan and Hayes Freight Lines Inc. have filed a complaint in the circuit court for a total of $32,000 damages against Southeastern Illinois Electric Coop. Inc., as a result of a collision near Harrisburg on May 22, 1956.

The complaint charges that a truck owned by SEIEC was traveling ahead of the Hayes tractor-trailer driven by Sullivan, and turned in the path of the Hayes truck without signaling. Sullivan applied his brakes, the complaint states, causing his truck to jack-knife into the path of another truck driven by Donald Wolf.

Sullivan is asking $25,000 for injuries received, and Hayes Freight Lines Inc. is asking $7,000 for damages to the truck.

heartedly accepting . . . the ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon . . .

Martin officially forgot about Joe Smith and ordered the roll call. Each state cast all of its votes for Nixon except Nebraska, which recorded 17 for him with one delegate—Carpenter—passing. Later Nebraska changed its vote to give Nixon all 18.

Martin announced that the vice president had 1,323 votes and was the unanimous choice of the convention.

In keeping with custom, neither candidate was in the convention hall at his moment of triumph. Mr. Eisenhower watched the session on television at his hotel. Nixon was at the home of his ailing father, Frank, at Whittier, Calif.

Applications Received For Nursing Course

Plans are to start classes Oct. 1. A part of the expenses will be met by the tuition of $125 per student. Of this amount, $50 will be for text books, laboratory fees and equipment and $75 for uniforms. Each student will receive three uniforms when enrolling for the course.

Business organizations and civic and fraternal groups are being asked to contribute to a fund to finance the school's operation. It was explained that the school would be of great benefit to the area and several business firms had expressed an interest in supplying financial aid.

The Harrisburg Township high school is the sponsoring organization and will supply classroom space, but will not assume any financial responsibility.

There will be 17 weeks of classroom work and 31 weeks in clinical experience in approved hospitals throughout the Harrisburg area.

While at work in the hospitals the student nurses will receive $4 per day from the hospitals, it was stated.

It is hoped the school will be a continuing thing. First class will start Oct. 1 and a second class is scheduled to get underway approximately 16 weeks later, when classroom work has been completed by the first group and facilities at the high school are available for a new class.

Elitis Henson, principal of the HTHS and a member of the advisory committee, discussed the need for a practical nurses school. He stated there was a great shortage of nurses throughout the area and a school would serve a dual purpose.

Practical nurses command a good rate of pay and those women trained in this profession will not only be in a position to aid themselves financially, but also may serve suffering humanity.

Dewey Matures; He's One to Watch in 1960

Dwight D. Eisenhower's nomination for president in 1952 by making his own 1950 gubernatorial campaign a stem-winder. He was plugging Ike-for-president then, and he continued to plug.

A Skillful Strategist
More than any other, Dewey obtained the defeat in 1952 of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft who sought the Republican presidential nomination. The loose and sweating down there on the 1952 convention floor and in the hotel huddles, Dewey was a skillful strategist, and successful. More than any other, Dewey had to do with putting Richard M. Nixon on the 1952 ticket with Mr. Eisenhower.

There was that crackling night in 1952 when Illinois' Sen. Everett M. Dirksen fingered Dewey from the convention platform. Pointing to him out there with the New York delegation, Dirksen indicted Dewey as the author of Republican disaster and defeat. There was a time when such would have blistered Dewey and he might have slid hunch-shouldered low in his seat to escape the fire. But, times had changed and Dewey was standing on his chair seat the night Dirksen went after him to get the full flavor of the attack.

During recent months when some men-around-Eisenhower and elsewhere have been trying to ditch

Nixon, Dewey backed his man. He said he had retired from politics, but it was known among Dewey's friends that if Nixon were knocked out he would take the vice presidential nomination had Mr. Eisenhower requested. From any angle there would not have been a better qualified candidate.

Speech Struck Fire
Dewey made a speech Wednesday during the nominating doings here. It was not a nominating or seconding speech, but it struck more fire from the delegates than anything which had gone before. His listeners whooped and cheered and a lot of them told each other: "There's a new Dewey about."

There's been a new Dewey about for some time now. He's only 54 years old and stands a reasonably good chance to be nominated for president again in 1960, or even, in 1964. He's a man to watch and a lot of people have been watching him with vastly changed opinions since way back there in 1940 when the 38-year old district attorney of New York County first aspired to the White House. It was then that the late Harold L. Ickes convulsed a nation with the crack: "Tommy Dewey has thrown his diaper into the ring."

Thomas E. Dewey has come of ripe political age.

In Memory Of Bert Parkas, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 23, 1955: It seems like a dream, a year ago today An Angel of death, took our loved one away. Our home is broken, it's not the same. Weeping in vain, death has the claim.

Upon a beautiful hill side not far away, Lies our loved one, in a house of clay, Until Jesus comes to claim His own. Then we shall know as we are known. Sadly missed by wife, children, and grandchildren. *48-1

In Memoriam In loving memory of W. E. (Bill) Edwards, who passed away 12 years ago, Aug. 23: Deep in our hearts lies a picture, Worth more than silver or gold. It's a picture of our dear loved one, Whose memory will never grow old. Sadly missed by wife and daughter. *48-1

In Remembrance In loving remembrance of Gus B. Syers, who passed away on August 20, 1955: Not a day do I forget you, In my thoughts you are always near. Loved, remembered, longed for, Every day throughout the year. Sadly missed by his wife, Mrs. Gus Syers. 48-1

Locals Lose One, Tie One in Tilts With Frankfort

By DAVID NELSON

The Cubs won 9-0 on a forfeit from the Reds in the only Kiwanis league game yesterday, but in tilts against West Frankfort teams, Pankeys lost, 14 to 6, and Pickfords played to a 7 to 7 tie.

In the first inter-city tilt, West Frankfort took off with nine runs in the initial inning, and then coasted to the 14-6 win over Pankeys. Brown and Hayes combined on the hill for Frankfort to pitch a three-hitter, while walking 10 and striking out 12. Gibbons and Barrett, who hurled for Pankeys, gave up 11 hits and walked eight as they struck out four.

Hubbard, Day and Patton led the winners at the plate with two hits each. Potter, Gibbons and W. Owens had the losers' only safeties.

Pickfords out hit Frankfort, 6 to 3 but wildness on the part of their pitchers, who issued 10 walks, and several errors enabled the visitors to tie them 7 to 7. Pavelonis and Maynard put together a three-hitter for Pickfords striking out 13 batters. Ilese and Pemberton hurled for the WF team, fanning 16. At bat for Pickfords, Nelson and D. Pickford doubled and Beggs, Maynard, Wasson and Vinson singled. Pemberton, Castagna and Barty had the only safe blows for the opposition.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

XXIII

The attendant went to the lower drawer at one end, and pulled it out its full length on ball-bearing rollers. He flipped back a white sheet to show the naked body lying on its back in the drawer.

The face was chalk-white. The eyes were closed, mouth sagging open in a macabre sort of grin. The features were even, and had probably been handsome when the young man was alive. There was a wide, gaping wound in his throat, edges of the flesh cut cleanly as though at one stroke, shriveled now by the exposure to bay water.

The three men stood together, silently looking down at the corpse. Gentry said heavily, "Charles Barnes from New York? I wonder."

"Yeh," said Rourke quickly. "Why not Bert Paulson from Jacksonville? Description fits. It all adds up to the girls' story. If scarf face slit his throat and switched wallets—there's your complete explanation, Mike. So she did see her brother lying there murdered. Didn't you say she told you his coat was folded up under his head? It could have been used to staunch the blood as you suggested upstairs."

Shayne didn't reply. His eyes were narrowed and very bright behind slitted lids as he stared down at the dead man. His left hand went up absently to tug at the lobe of his ear.

Without taking his gaze from the white face, he muttered, "I've seen him some place. Recently. I swear it." He closed his eyes tightly and his rugged features hardened in a mask of concentration.

Gentry and Rourke waited without speaking. He shook his head slowly, still not opening his eyes. He muttered, "It runs away from me. Like quicksilver. I know I've seen him. Probably just once and briefly. It isn't real familiarity. But it's there. Just beyond my conscious grasp of it."

He opened his eyes suddenly for another long look at the pallid face. He shook his head disgustedly and turned away. "I have to put it out of my mind. It'll pop up unexpectedly. I should recognize him, and I know it's important. 'Way down deep beyond reason, something tells me it's important. That we'll know some answer when it comes back to me."

Shayne had reached the stairway and started up when he whirled about abruptly, his face lighting with satisfaction. "Got it! And it messes up our nice little theory. That guy couldn't possibly have been murdered in the Hibiscus Hotel at 9:30 tonight. At 10 o'clock he was alive in the Silver Glade."

He was fumbling in the side pocket of his jacket, and he pulled out the photo the girl had thrust into it in the lobby of his hotel while she was importuning him to accept a retainer from her.

He thrust the photograph at Will Gentry. "Take it back and compare the two. You'll see it's the same man."

11:12 P. M.

Michael Shayne dropped Timothy Rourke at his office on his way back from the morgue to police headquarters. The reporter was anxious to get out a preliminary story on the "Body in the Bay" as he was already calling it.

Back in Will Gentry's office at headquarters, Shayne found the chief about to interrogate a quiet-faced bronzed man who was clad only in skin-tight swimming trunks and whom Gentry introduced as Norman Raine.

"Mr. Raine brought the body in from the bay," he told Shayne. "I've got wires out to New York and to Jacksonville. Let's hear what Mr. Raine has to tell us."

"It isn't much and I'm afraid it won't be very helpful," Raine said in a resonant baritone. "I've a boat anchored in the yacht basin and I sleep aboard—alone. Only tonight I couldn't sleep. He showed even, white teeth in a smile and nodded thankfully as he leaned forward to accept a cigaret from the redhead, averting his eyes from the black cigar Gentry puffed on.

He drew in smoke and expelled it, leaned back comfortably and went on. "That's what brought me ashore in my skiff. I was out of cigaerets, and about 10:30 I got to the point where I just had to have a smoke. So I started rowing in."

"You're anchored off Tenth Street?" asked Gentry.

"Just about opposite the end of Tenth. The tide was running out, but there was a nice breeze behind me and I was pulling along steadily, about half-way to shore I guess, when suddenly my bow struck something in the water.

"It gave me quite a start. It was a funny, solid, dead sort of thud. You know, I was rowing along thinking about nothing at all except about a cigaret and how good the first puff was going to taste, and then—pow! Like that.

"Well, the poor devil was floating face down in the water. I saw he must be a goner right away. Face down and all. I had a little trouble getting him aboard, and then went on in as fast as I could. I tied up and ran to the nearest place I saw a light, and telephoned the police. That's absolutely all I know about it."

"How far out are you anchored?" Shayne asked him.

"About—oh—a half mile."

Better Players or Else--Buc Pilot

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Manager Bob Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who said Wednesday that he would resign unless the club gets better players next year, indicated today the team was hitting on only half its cylinders.

"We have the nucleus for a real good ball club," he said. "About a dozen of the players can justify calling themselves major league ball players and about a dozen cannot."

Bragan said that if all the players now on the team are with the Pirates this time next year "I am going to be conspicuous by my absence."

"I don't mean that as a threat or anything like that," he said, "but, hell, we're shooting for the top, aren't we?"

The freshman Pirate manager said in an interview, "if I lose next year, then I'm going to lose with some new faces."

Yanks Buy Player to Bolster Pinch-Hitting

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, taking no chances despite their 8 1-2 game American League lead, today added George Wilson to their roster in an effort to bolster their pinch-hitting department. The 30-year old Wilson was purchased from the New York Giants Wednesday for an amount "above the $10,000 waiver price."

Redleg Homers Nearing 2 Records and Keeping Team In Torrid National Race

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

A homer-a-day technique has the Cincinnati Redlegs threatening today and making it plain they'll be in the National League pennant race to the bitter end.

The experts expected out of the legs to be floundering out of the race by now but Birdie Tebbetts' maulers simply refuse to fold. They beat the Pittsburgh Pirates for the ninth straight time Wednesday, 6-3, to remain only a game behind the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers and cut the first-place Milwaukee Braves' lead to three games.

Gus Bell walloped his 24th homer to extend the team's string to 19 straight games in which it has hit at least one homer. The club is within five games of the National League mark of 24 straight games set by the 1953 Dodgers and within six games of the major league record set by the 1941 New York Yankees. In addition, Bell's homer was the club's 180th of the year — leaving it 41 shy of the major league mark of 221 for a season held by the 1947 New York Giants.

The Redlegs also took advantage of errors by Bill Mazaroski and Dale Long to score four unearned runs as Joe Nuxhall gained credit for his ninth win. Bob Friend was the victim of the Pirates' loose support and lost his 13th game.

Musial Makes Two Errors

PeeWee Reese collected three of the Dodgers' five hits as they downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3, for a sweep of the two-game series. Stan Musial committed two errors and Don Blasingame one to help the Dodgers score four unearned runs.

The last-place New York Giants turned on their season-long tormentors to deal the Braves a 2-1 loss and give Dick Littlefield his first victory since last Aug. 30. Dusty Rhodes singled home the decisive run in the sixth inning as the Giants beat Milwaukee for only the fourth time in 20 meetings.

Bob Rush pitched a five-bitter for his 12th win and the Chicago Cubs tallied five unearned runs to beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-3. The Cubs backed Rush with a nine-hit attack.

The New York Yankees virtually ended the American League pennant race when they defeated the Cleveland Indians, 3-2, and restored their lead to 8 1-2 games with only 34 left to play. Al Ro-

Pierce Gets 18th

Billy Pierce became the A. L.'s first 18-game winner of the season when the Chicago White Sox won a daytime game, 6-3, but the Boston Red Sox gained a split in the night game of the "doubleheader" with a 7-6 decision. Ron Northey's sacrifice fly snapped a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning of the first game and Fred Hatfield followed with a clinching two-run homer. In the nightcap, homers by Ted Lepcio and Dick Gernert helped the Red Sox tie the score at 6-6 and Billy Consolo singled in the winning tally in the ninth.

Al Kaline drove in three runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly as the Detroit Tigers rapped out 15 hits to beat the Washington Senators, 9-5.

Viv Power's two-run single snapped a 2-2 tie and the Kansas City Athletics added three insurance runs in the 11th to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-2, in the other AL game.

Wally Moon Now Tied For N. L. Hitting Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals today moved into a tie with Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves in the race for the National League batting title.

The Cardinals' 26-year-old outfielder, NL rookie of the year in 1954, collected two hits in as many tries Wednesday night while Aaron went hitless in four tries. That left the two deadlocked with identical .332 averages.

Moon hit .304 in 1954 and .295 last season.
